

Erika Taylor

Erika is a dedicated professional who earned her MS in Marriage and Family Therapy in 2017 from the Department of Human Development and Family Science. Currently, she holds the position of Behavioral Health Clinical Faculty at ECU's Department of Family Medicine within the Brody School of Medicine. Erika is passionate about HHP's mission to empower future leaders in health promotion, population health, family sciences, and societal health. She values the commitment to fostering agency, robust learning, and providing cutting-edge research opportunities.

In addition to her academic and professional achievements, Erika proudly represented the Tar Heel State as Miss North Carolina International in 2015. Her connection to ECU and the surrounding community is deeply rooted in the family-oriented and welcoming atmosphere. Erika appreciates the resilience and camaraderie embodied by Pirates, emphasizing that, regardless of the circumstances, Pirates always persevere.
