

Nancy Mize

Nancy boasts over 40 years of dedicated service to higher education, holding key administrative roles in teaching and coaching at the collegiate level. Her extensive experience includes leadership positions in Corporate Fitness, Community Parks and Recreation, and High School and College Officiating. In 2016, she retired from ECU as the Associate Vice Chancellor for Student Services and Assistant Vice Chancellor for the Department of Campus Recreation and Wellness.

Her commitment extends beyond professional roles, embodying a lifelong dedication to community service. Nancy has been actively engaged with Special Olympics and Senior Games for over 30 years, serving in leadership roles for both organizations. Even in retirement, she remains actively involved in university committees, guest lectures, and contributes to strategic planning and program initiatives. Nancy's passion for healthy aging continues to drive her commitment to university involvement.

A highlight of Nancy's career at ECU was her instrumental role in planning and building the Eakin Recreation Center. Furthermore, her contributions to the planning and development of the North Recreation Complex have significantly enhanced outdoor opportunities for students, faculty, and staff.
